

UniversalLanguage Medical “Certified” Written Test

The written screening test for medical certified interpreters is sixty (60) minutes and is composed of composed of five parts, in different formats. The interpreter screening will be true and false questions, fill in the blank, and reading comprehension.

Written Test Outline

- Part one: Interpreter Code of Ethics. Candidates will need to identify whether each given statement is true or false. (40 Points)
- Part two: Medical Terminology & Pharmacology. Candidate will need to find the equivalent translation for each medical term into the target language. This section will also contain pharmacology sub-section and the candidate will have to make a choice between true or false for each item. (50 Points)
- Part three: Clinical/Medical Procedures. Candidate will have to make a choice between true or false to answer each item. (50 Points)
- Part four: Writing Skills in English. Candidate will have a 10 multiple choice questions in English. They will have to identify the correct letter (A, B, C, D) that corresponds to their choice and select it. (30 Points)
- Part five: Reading Comprehension. Candidate will read a section, in English, and then answer a series of questions, where they will have to make a choice between true or false for each item. (60 Points)

Candidates will use the designated remote proctored testing site to sit for the test. The test must be done in a secure and private location without any interruptions. All items in the written screening test are designed for objective computer scoring. The written test totals possible score is 230. Candidates must receive  $\geq 184$  points or better of the total possible score to pass the written test.